Programme Highlight

The Electrical & Mechanical Services Department has recently published a booklet - “Technical Guidelines on Grid Connection of Small-Scale Renewable Energy Power Systems”.

Based on this content, the honorable speakers will introduce and assist us to have better understanding on the technical issues and application procedures relating to connection of small renewable energy installation to the electricity grid.

Honorable Speaker

Ir. Joe Chan has been involved with the design and management of energy related projects for many years in the United Kingdom before he joined Electrical and Mechanical Services Department in 1996. Ir. Chan is currently a Senior Engineer working in the Energy Efficiency office and he is responsible for the promotion of the use of new and renewable energy technologies in Hong Kong.
