Programme Highlights

The 61 hectares Hong Kong Wetland Park locates at Tin Shui Wai, New Territories. The key objective of the Park is to re-recreate a green and sustainable habitat specifically designed for waterfowls and other wildlife. To accomplish a green and sustainable design, 10 major green concepts incorporated with innovative ideas such as energy saving, recycled materials, etc. have been embedded in the project development.

The design of building services installations coping with the architectural design and unique ecosystem would be introduced by the speaker, and to be visualized by the participants by tour around the visit site.
